“A Deepening Crisis: Immigration Sunday”

Rev. Tim Temerson & the UUCA Immigration Ministry

Recent changes in policy have taken a heavy toll on the immigrant community. Join us as we learn more about the current crisis, the role the church’s immigration ministry is playing, and what additional steps we can take to offer our support and to move a broken system in the direction of justice and fairness. Today’s service will include a special collection to benefit our partner, the Immigrant Worker Project.

At Eternity’s Gate: The Spiritual Vision of Vincent Van Gogh

Rev. Tim Temerson & Pam Garn Nunn

Few artists have achieved more fame and influence than Vincent van Gogh. While much is known about Van Gogh’s life and his struggles with mental health disorders, what is less well understood or appreciated is the connection between Van Gogh’s spiritual journey and his art. Today’s service will explore that connection and the role Van Gogh’s spiritual beliefs and convictions played in his extraordinary work

The Blessings of Our Lives

Rev. Tim Temerson & Rich Roberts, DRE

In this season of gratitude and giving, we are often reminded and encouraged to be grateful for our blessings. But what exactly is a blessing, where does it come from, and what should we do when we receive a blessing? Today’s service is intergenerational, features the musical talents of the UU Band and a homily by Rev. Tim, and will include a Child Dedication, a special collection to benefit the UUCA Community Meal, and the annual Sharing the Harvest ritual.

“What Really Happened at the First Thanksgiving?”

Rev. Dave Clements & Susan Wynn

When you hear about the Pilgrims and “the Indians” harmoniously sharing the “first Thanksgiving” meal in 1621, the Indians referred to so generically are the ancestors of the contemporary members of the Wampanoag Nation. What’s the Wampanoag version of what happened? Together we will explore the history of that first Thanksgiving and the role that gratitude plays in each of our lives
